Yep, all good. Thanks for moving these things along, and for reminding me what is still hanging!

YES. Good idea. The original language is what's in the Order, but there's no reason we need to mimic that exactly for these purposes.

I'll make that change, then send to the contractor.

Okey dokey?

Toby

Thanks Toby (and Julia),

I got this opened yesterday, found one thing to discuss with you, which then got pushed aside by 10 other things. The only question I had was this sentence under Delete current fourth paragraph and insert the following updated language....

- Preliminary review by the HSRRO can be requested for any research project, contract, grant application, cooperative agreement, cooperative research and development agreement (CRADA), interagency agreement or any formal agreement involving EPA support of such studies.

This requires the reader to note/understand the difference between “can be requested” and “something we should do.” Do we want to be more directive, with something like:

- Preliminary (or “conditional”) review by the HSRRO is not required, but can be requested, for any research project, contract, grant application, cooperative agreement, cooperative research and development agreement (CRADA), interagency agreement or any formal agreement involving EPA support of such studies.

Dan: If you're ok with these changes, I'll forward it to Lu-Ann so she can have the contractor get started on these changes.

Please let me know.

Thanks,

Toby

Hi Toby/Dan,

I put together the attached document so that all of our suggested internet updates are consolidated in one place. If you both agree with the updates, I think it is ready to be forwarded to Lu-Ann so that the contractors can update the sites.

Thanks and let me know about any edits.

Best,
